THE WAY OF THE WORLD.

MAN.
If he wears a good coat,
Lift him up, lift him up;
Though he be but a blot,
Lift him up.

If he has no common sense And can't do a few things, Lift him up.
Though his face shows no shame,
Lift him up, lift him up;
Though crime is his name,
Lift him up.

Though their disgrace be his sport,
Lift him up.
Lift him up.

WOMAN.
If a woman once errs,
Kick her down, kick her down;
If misfortune be hers,
Kick her down.

Though her tears fall like rain—
Kick her down.
If a man breaks her heart,
Kick her down, kick her down.
Redeem the smart—
Kick her down.

And if in her condition,
On, on to perdition—
Kick her down.
Kick her down.

One of Bob Ingersoll's Theories put to the Test.

Not long since, says Peck's Sun, the following utterance of Bob Ingersoll went the rounds of the papers:

Colonel Ingersoll says he keeps a pocket-book in an open drawer, and his children go and help themselves to money when they want it. "They can't help it," he says; "they are children."

They can't help it, they say, when they sleep all day if they choose, and sit up all night if they desire. I don't try to coerce them. I never punish, never scold. They buy their own clothes, and are masters of themselves."

A gentleman living on Marshall street, who has a boy that is full as kittens as his father, read the article and pondered deeply. He knew that Col. Ingersoll was a success at raising children in the way they should go, and he thought he would try it. The boy had caused him considerable annoyance, and he made up his mind that he had not treated the boy right; so he called the boy in from the street, where he was putting soft soap on a lamp-post in order to see the lamplighter climb it, and said to him:

"My son, I have decided to adopt a different course with you. Hereafter I have been careful about giving you money, and have wanted to know where every cent went to, and my supervision has no doubt been annoying to you. Now, I am going to leave my pocket-book in the bureau drawer, with plenty of money in it, and you are at liberty to use it all you want without asking me. I want you to buy any thing you desire, buy your own clothes, and to feel as though the money was yours, and that you had not got to account for it. Just make yourself at home now, and try and have a good time."

The boy looked at the old gentleman, put his hand on his head as tho' he had "got 'em sure," and went out to see the lamp-lighter climb that soft soap. The next day the stern parent went out into the country, shooting, and returned on the midnight train three days later. He opened the door with a latch-key, and a strange yellow dog grabbed him by the elbow of his pant and shook him, he said, "like the agur."

The dog barked and chewed until the son came down in his night-shirt and called him off. He told his father he had bought that dog of a fireman for $11, and that it was probably the best dog bargain that had been made this season. He said that the fireman had told him he could find a man that wanted that kind of a dog.

The parent took off his pants (what the dog had not removed,) and in the hall he stumbled over a birch bark canoe the boy had bought of an Indian for $9, and an army musket with an iron ramrod fell down from the corner.
The boy had paid $6 for that. He had also bought himself an overcoat with a seal-skin collar and cuffs, and a complete outfit of calico shirts and sock stockings.

In his room the parents found the marble top of a soda-fountain, a wheelbarrow and shell filled with all kinds of canned meats, preserves and crackers, and a barrel of apples. A wall-tent and six pairs of blanket were rolled up ready for camping out, and a buckskin shirt and a pair of corduroy pants lay on the bed, ready for pulling on. Six fish-poles and a basketful of fish-lines were ready for business, and an oyster can full of grob worms for bait were squirming on the washstand. The old gentleman looked the lay-out over, looked at his pocket-book in the bureau drawer, as empty as a contribution-box, and said:

Young man, the times have been too flush. We will now return to specie basis. When you want money come to me and I will give you a nickel, and you will tell me what you intend to buy with it, or I'll warn you.

You hear me?"

And now that man stands around, from the effects of the encounter with the yellow dog, and asks every man where a letter will reach Bob Ingersoll.
He says he will kill Ingersoll, if it is the last noble act he ever accomplishes.

TURNPIKES.

Number Three.

By the Charter of the Turnpike Companies, the sole management of the roads is placed in the hands of a President and a Board of Directors. The keeping of these roads is in their possession. They are the agents of the stockholders, by whose money the said roads were constituted, and upon their skill and management the condition of these roads depends.

These roads are a very great public convenience, and should be kept in a good condition. The Directors should be competent men, and as an inducement and compensation for the service of such men, the toll of themselves and families were given to them. The roads at their completion having no money, it was the best that could be done under the circumstances, but out of it has grown the great abuse of "DEAD HEADS."

In the county there are 17 turnpike roads. The Boards of Directors are composed of a President and five Directors. In all the roads except two the President and Directors are made "dead heads," as well as their families. These two roads are making praiseworthy and vigorous efforts to extricate themselves from debt, and, if practicable, to become dividend-paying roads, and neither the Presidents nor Directors nor any other person is a dead head, except such as made so by their Charter. So far as the Presidents are concerned, this is carrying economy to an extreme. The whole care and management of the road devolves upon them. They must keep a sharp lookout upon the toll-gates, &c., as to hold them in proper trim.
They must receive and pay out the tolls collected. They must watch the roads and superintend all repairs.

This requires time, care and attention, and as a part of their compensation, themselves and families are properly made dead heads, and, besides this, they are entitled to additional compensation for their services. The Directors do little else than meet once or twice a year for an hour or two, to hear and act upon the report of the President, of his receipts and disbursements. In the 15 roads, the five Directors and their families are dead heads—making 75 families. Others are dead heads for stone or ground to be furnished, if necessary; others because the roads pass over their lands, or for land for a toll-house, &c., so that it may be safely stated that there are a hundred families using the turn-pike's toll free. On an average the toll of the hundred families would be $10 each per year, making in all $1000.
This sum is a large compensation for little service. A grand juror receives $1 50 per day for his services; a petit juror $2 per day; a magistrate $3 per day, for attending the County Court, and the Director from $5 to $10 per day, and those who furnish stone or ground receive two or three times the value thereof.

The whole system of dead heads is wrong. It is not a wise appropriation of the funds of the road, which belong to the stockholders. It is an abuse which ought to be abolished. The Directors are entitled to a reasonable compensation for their services, to be fixed by the Boards. The owners of stone and ground should be paid for their ground or stone, if required.
There should be an impartial collection of tolls from all persons who use the roads, except from the classes exempted by the Charters of the roads.
With such impartiality, all persons would be better satisfied, and the roads would have more funds to keep them in repair.

S. S. McCR.

Diamonds in China.
These diamonds, varying in size from a millet seed to a pin's head, are procured from the glaciers, who buy them at the large fairs held every year at Chuehoo, Laichow-fu, and Hwang-hsien. They are not to be found in shops, and are packed in quills. The manner of finding these stones is very curious. Men with thick straw shoes go walking about in the diamondif-erous sands of the valleys and streams of the diamond mountains, Chinkangling, some fifteen miles south-east of Yichow-fu. The diamonds, which are ragged and pointed, penetrate the straw and remain there. The shoes are then collected in great numbers and burnt, the diamonds being searched for in the ashes. As is the case with amethysts and rock crystal in the Loa Shan, the priests of the temples in the Chinkang-ling are the principal dealers.

A gentleman in New Orleans was agreedly surprised to find a plump turkey served up for his dinner, and inquired of his servant how it was obtained. "Why, Sir," replied Sambo, "that turkey has been roasting on our fence tree nights. So dis morning I seize him for de rent of de fence!"

Catholic vs. Protestant.

A remarkable case has just been brought before the English court.
Hon. Leopold Agar Ellis, a Protestant, some fifteen or twenty years ago married a Catholic lady, promising that she should raise her children in her own faith. When her children were old enough he insisted on them going to the Protestant church. His wife secretly made Catholics of them.
When their daughter had attained her twelfth year she "put her foot down" on going to the Protestant church; her sister, aided and abetted by the mother, followed her example, and the father, finding himself unable to cope with the trio, appealed to the law.

The result was, says a correspondent,
"to make wards in Chancery of them, and it was decreed that during six months they should be taught no religion at all. The matter was not allowed to remain thus compromised, though it is probable that each parent would have preferred the children to have no religion rather than the religion of the other. Finally it has been decided on appeal that a man may swear any thing he likes before marriage, in regard to matters of this sort, in order to obtain his wife thereby, and is at liberty to break his promise afterward, because he can not alienate from himself his inalienable right to look after his own children. This, according to the court, is not a moral but a legal question, and legally an ante-nuptial contract of this kind goes for nothing."

It seems that each parent considers it a question of salvation; if that is the case, really, we think both should have considered the matter more carefully before marrying a party who was on the high road to the Bad Place. —[Courier-Journal.]

About Advertising.
My success is owing to liberality in advertising. —[Bonner.]

The road to fortune is through printer's ink. —[P. T. Barnum.]

Success demands a liberal patronage of printing offices. —[J. J. Astor.]

Frequent and constant advertising brought me all I want. —[A. T. Stewart.]

My son, deal with men who advertise. You will never lose by it. — [Ben Franklin.]

How can the world know a man has a good thing without he advertises the possession of it? —[Vanderbilt.]

A good advertisement in a newspaper pays no fare on railroads; costs nothing for hotel bills; gives away no boxes of cigars to customers, or merino dresses to customers' wives; drinks no whisky under the head of traveling expenses, but goes at once and all the time about its business free of expense.

Advertising is the oil which tradesmen put in their lamps. They that are unwise put no oil in.

"Where is 'parts unknown'?" asks a correspondent of the Danbury News.
To which Bailey answers, "Where they don't advertise." And though Bailey does say it, this is no joke.

An advertisement is a window thro' which all the world may look into your shop and see just what you wish it to see—no more, no less.

People are quite apt to go where their attention is called, and, if they find things as represented, will purchase there in preference to spending their time in seeking elsewhere.

THE HEART.—Throb, throb, throb.
Ever sleeping but often tired, loaded with care, chilled by despair, bleeding with wounds, often inflamed by those who do not understand it, or burdened with affection, it must beat on for a lifetime. Nothing finds a lodging in its chambers that does not add to its labors. Every thought that the mind generates steps upon the heart before it wings its way into the outer world.
The memory of the dead loved ones are mountains of weight upon its sensitivity; the anxieties of the soul stream to the heart and bank themselves upon it as the early snow-drifts cover the tender plant; love, if it loves, fires it with feverish warmth, and makes it the more sensitive; hate, if it hates, heats it to desperation and fills it with conflicts. Still it works on.
When slumber closes the eye-lids, for the heart is beating—beating beneath all its burdens; it works while we sleep; it works while we play; it aches when we laugh. Do not unnecessarily wound it; do not add to its bleeding wounds.
Speak a kind word to cheer it; warm it when it is cold; encourage it when it desponds. —[Good Words.]

Sometimes the services of a civil engineer are cheap at twice the money. A Henderson county farmer worked four days digging a dike to drain a bit of low meadow of his own into a big pond on another man's farm. And when the dike was opened the pond just walked right into the meadow and located about twenty acres of swamp right where the hay used to grow. And the farmer was just the maddest man!

A New Counterfeit.

A new counterfeit standard silver dollar has made its appearance in Chicago and is calculated to deceive even the very elect, when they are not mindful. The receipts of the Sub-Treasury were very large, and a number of standards which came at that time were paid out to pensioners. One of this class of customers found, on trying to pass one of the dollars at a store on State street that it was no good. He returned with it to the Sub-Treasury, and the disbursing clerk, who had paid it out, along with others in a great hurry, gave the old lady a good one, and put the counterfeit in his collection. The general appearance of the piece is very good indeed. Even acids will not act upon it. Weight, however, is against it, the scales showing that it has just sev-enths of the weight which the standard dollar should have. There are other minor defects which were ascertained after some little examination. It is a trifle thicker, for instance, than the standard dollar, and the milling on the edge of it is imperfect. The figures "8" in "1878" are also imperfect, having dots at each loop. The same fault attaches to the "P" in "Pluribus Unum." The bottom of the "P" in "Pluribus" should be straight, but it is slightly curved, and the bottom of many of the letters in "United States of America" are slightly crooked and broken. The counterfeit is a composition, with heavy silver wash. The proverbially careful salesmen and the astute beer seller will need to evince an extra amount of caution, and give it a wide berth.

A HUSBAND'S LOVE.—A pretty, dark-eyed girl, about twenty years of age, was arraigned in the Fifty-seventh street court, a few days ago, having been found the evening before hopelessly drunk in the street.

"It is a pity to send so young and pretty a woman to the Island," said the Magistrate. "Is there no one in the court who knows her?"

No response was given for a few moments, when a handsome, well-knit young fellow came quickly forward to the Judge's bench, and said with a voice hoarse with emotion—

"She is my wife, sir. It is not her first offense, and, God forgive me, I had determined to let her suffer this time. I find my love for her will not allow of my quietly seeing her punished, however much she may deserve it. Forgive her, Your Honor, as I now do. She has been, and perhaps will be again, as good a wife as ever a man was blessed with."

The tears were trickling down his face, and while yet his cheeks were wet, his erring wife was free to go.— [New York Herald.]

THE BOOT AND SHOE INDUSTRY.— The returns of one of the patentees who collect a royalty on every boot or shoe manufactured by machinery show that the greatest number of pairs ever turned out in one month were manufactured in September, 1878—4,191, 776. For the year, however, the manufacture up to October 1, was only 23,197,000 pairs, against 25,285, 000 for the same time last year, or a reduction of about 8 per cent. This falling off is due in some measure to the increased employment of shoe-makers to work by hand in the old-fashioned way. There probably has never been a time when a day's work will go as far in buying boots and shoes as to-day.

A subscriber at Janesville wants to know how to tell the age of a hen.
There are several methods of telling the age of hens. The teeth are a very good sign to go by until the hen gets old and begins to lose them. After that you can tell by the wrinkles on the horns. At the age of five years the first wrinkle appears, and one appears every two years after that. But after the horns become full of wrinkles the only way to tell the age of a hen is cooking. —[Peck's Sun.]

Oh! the anguish at the thought that we can never atone to our dead for the stunted affection we gave them—for the light answers that we returned to their plaints or their pleadings, for the little reverence that we showed to that sacred human soul that lived so close to us, and was the divinest thing that God has given us to know! —[George Elliot.]

GINGER SNAPS.—One cup of New Orleans molasses, one cup sugar, one cup butter, one large spoonful of soda dissolved in a little boiling water, two spoonfuls cinnamon, one of ginger; roll as stiff as possible with flour; cut thin and bake in a quick oven. There are no better ginger snaps than these.

One hundred and three thousand and five bankruptcies were entered in the United States while the late law was in force.

MISS ALICE and PAMELA SALTER, of Danville, are guests of Mrs. E. G. Alfred.

MISS SARAH ENGLISH and BELLA VAN ANSLEY are at Mr. E. Van Ansville's.

MISS PATRICIA McKENNEY has returned from Richmond, greatly delighted with her visit.

MR. M. D. HUGHES left with his children yesterday for Bourbon county to visit her husband.

MR. JAMES McALISTER came from Georgetown to spend the winter with his children.

MR. WALL CRAWFORD, the wife and representative of Messrs. Spangenberg & Co., Cincinnati, is in town.

MISS MAGGIE OLDMAN, a charming young lady from Madison, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. John H. Miller.

MR. J. W. WATKINS, a faithful devotee of this city, is enjoying himself with friends in Mercer county.

MISS BELLE LIVINGSTON, Annie Stephenson, and Maggie and Betty Butler left Tuesday for Nicholasville.

MISS LOU GAY and Celia Pool, two pretty young ladies from Breathedsville, are visiting Miss Gabriela C. Good.

MISS CAROL V. MILLER, a graceful and handsome lady from Owensboro, is visiting her cousin, Miss Maud Simpson.

MISS M. E. BRADSHAW, the accomplished music teacher of Stanford Female College, has gone to visit her sister in Franklin, Ky.

As happy and pretty a lot of young ladies as one could wish to see turned the Mite Society that met with Miss Patten Burdette last night.

MISS ANNA and MARY ALCOCK kindly remembered us on Christmas day, and brought a treat of Egg-nog and cake. Couldn't have pleased us better.

This beautiful and accomplished Wm. M. Bogle of Paint Lick, smilingly dealt out the R. R. tickets to the traveling public in the absence of our regular Agent. He is a decided favorite here.

MISS KATE WILLIAMS and ANN COOK, a couple of beauties of whom Lincoln county is justly proud, are spending the holidays with their cousin, Miss Kate and Lizzie Huffman, in Covington, Ky.

As a recent visit to the Queen City of the West, we were thrown much into the company of Messrs. Will Craig and S. B. Matheny, who are in business there, to whom we are indebted for many special favors.

For the Times we learn that Miss Annie McAlister, of this place, was present at the Hop given at Barlow Hall, in Georgetown, by the young gentlemen of that city, and looked her loveliest in a garnet suit dress with gold ornaments.

MISS J. B. PATTON, T. P. BELL, and T. L. Carpenter, of Central University, High Road and Walter W. Gwaley, of Centre College, H. M. Baldwin and F. E. Feland, of Columbia College, and George McAlister, of Georgetown College, are enjoying the Christmas vacation with the old folks at home.

The advance compliments our admiring correspondents at Danville, Mr. D. E. Tucker, in the following best manner: "THE INTERIOR JOURNAL has an excellent correspondent in this city. He manages to furnish our highly esteemed contemporary with the most important local items and dresses them up in good English."

An examination of the salaries of clergymen in Virginia, South Carolina, Georgia, Kentucky, and North Carolina, shows a lower average in North Carolina than in either of the other States. Georgia supports her ministers best, Kentucky next, Virginia third, and South Carolina fourth.

LOCAL NEWS.

HORSE THIEF.—Ned Humber, negro, is spending the holidays in jail in default of $200 bail. Stealing a horse from Mr. J. H. Parson's is the charge.

KILLED.—A man named J. M. Lyne, was run over and instantly killed by a freight train near Science Hill, on the C. & S. R. R. on Saturday last. He was lying on the track in a drunken condition, and was not observed in time for the Engineer to prevent the accident.

CHRISTMAS DAY.—Was one of the quietest, as well as the coldest ever experienced here. The thermometer was down to zero but the young folks didn't mind it. They took advantage of the several inches of snow, by making the air musical with the merry notes of the sleigh bells.

BIRTHS.—Our deputy post-master, Mr. A. A. Warren, is the father of an 8 1/2 pound boy. "It is his papa's baby, ta, ta," said Dr. T. B. Montgomery also rejoices over a boy, which arrived on Monday. It weighed 11 1/2 pounds and has been named, Thomas Bell.

AFFIRMED.—The Court of Appeals has affirmed the sentence of Joe Hocker to the penitentiary for one year for hog stealing. Joe is a colored gentleman, lately of this county, and because of the smallness of his offense the Court was unwilling to interfere. If he had murdered a man, though he would have gotten a new trial.

THE WEATHER.—The climax of the intensely cold weather, was reached on Wednesday morning, the thermometer at sunrise registering 3 degrees below zero. The ice getters were happy in their harvest, and many of them filled their houses with ice 5 or 6 inches thick. It will be cheap next Summer.

POOR XMAS FUN.—George Britain, a young man from the country, began his Christmas by getting drunk on the Eve before, and acting very disorderly. He was arrested and lodged in jail till next morning, when he was tried before Judge Rochester, who relieved him of $8.50 in the shape of fine and costs. We hope that this will be a lesson to him as well as a warning to other young men who are accustomed to take a little too much.

NEW BUILDINGS.—Notwithstanding the hard times, Stanford continues to grow slowly, but surely. This year nine new dwellings, and the St. Asaph Hotel, in which there are two splendid store rooms, have been built, besides a jail, a pork packing house, and numerous other houses of less importance. Several houses are now in process of erection, and a number of people are thinking of building during the coming year.

ANXIOUS FOR A DRINK.—Philip Phillips, a colored man living near town, died on Sunday night last, from the effects, it is supposed, of drinking a remnant of whiskey from a broken bottle, in which were pieces of glass. The bottle was in Wood Lytle's saddle pocket at the time it broke and at the negro's request he gave it to him. So anxious was the negro for a drink that he cared not for glass, but gulped the whiskey down and died for it in 24 hours.

NEARLY A FURBER.—But for a well administered emetic we would have had to chronicle the demise of one of our best lawyers this week. In his anxiety to get outside of a dozen raw oysters on Christmas day, he swallowed oyster, half shell and all, and did not discover his mistake until it reached its destination and began to double him up with pain. The emetic brought it from its hiding place, and the disgusted attorney abandoned any further attempt to eat Christmas.

HOUSE'S TROUBLES.—Thomas Hogue was arrested and tried this week for obstructing the public highway 100 days, and acquitted. He was then arrested on a charge of maliciously wounding Thomas Blackberry, and examined before Esquires Carson and Portman, who held him to answer for wounding in sudden heat and passion. He demanded a trial at the once before the Quarterly Court, and the Jury rendered a verdict of $50 fine, from which he appealed to the Circuit Court.

TWENTY-ONE FROM UNNATURAL CAUSES.—In looking over our file for 1924, we find that we have during the year, recorded the deaths of twenty-seven white persons in this county, alone. Fifty-six died from natural causes, 2 were murdered, 4 were accidentally shot by others, 1 accidentally shot himself, 2 committed suicide, 3 were killed by lightning, 2 by the explosion of a saw-mill boiler, 1 by run over by the cars, 1 died of neglect, 1 from sunstroke, 1 was scalded and 1 drowned.

THIS IS A FACT.—Since our last issue we have noticed that many of our readers took our advice, and went, as they should have done, to Hayden Brothers' store and laid in a supply of substantial Christmas presents for children, friends, &c. This is better than to expend money for toys and other things that have no real value. A suit of warm clothes, a nice dress, a pair of boots, or any article for wear, is far preferable to such things. The Hayden store the public all they need, at almost actual cost.

TIMELY NEWS.—Many of the handsome presents on the Christmas Tree last Wednesday night came from Jim Davis' great Emporium, and he has still on hand, huge stores more that he now offers at actual cost. New Year's day is almost here, and we advise our friends to get Mr. Davis a call now, and he will induce you to buy your presents of him. His store is a fair palace that Aladin might envy, and his good things to eat would tempt the appetite of all who love delicious eatables. Call early and get first choice at your own prices.

CHRISTMAS TREE.—Although particularly intended for its own Sunday School scholars, each of whom was well cared for, the Christmas Tree at the Methodist Church was far from being confined to that school alone, but was heartily enjoyed by every child in town and nearly every grown person too. The tree was very large, and laden with its 500 or 600 presents, presented a sight of intense beauty to the little ones, and did credit to the taste of the ladies and gentlemen who arranged it. Many of the presents were handsome and costly, but the special beauty of the occasion was that, as far as we could see, every person in the house was the recipient of something of more or less value. Every thing passed off in a most orderly and pleasant manner, and the originators of the Tree can feel that they have been ten-fold repaid for their trouble by giving joy to hundreds of little hearts who will remember with pleasure the event long after their owners will have become the men and women of the land.

18.—Fourteen adults and four children were buried in the Buffalo Cemetery this year, against 14 adults and 2 children in 1877, and 17 adults and 17 children in 1876. So we are informed by Mr. J. M. Hendricks, the keeper of the Cemetery.

READ THIS FIRST.—We are in the midst of the gay and happy Christmas days, and Winter is upon us in earnest. Those who are comfortably clad have nothing to fear from the winds blast. Those who are not should at once go to Hayden Brothers' store, as they have concluded to offer during the holidays, every thing in the way of wearing apparel, for either male or female, old or young, at a large discount, by way of a Christmas gift to their many friends and patrons. They will surprise you with low prices.

MARRIAGES.

THERE was a triple wedding at one of our colored Churches last night.

135.—During the year, one hundred and three white and thirty two colored couples were married in this county.

BURTON—CAMDEN—On Christmas Eve, Mr. Alvin J. Burton and Miss Sallie J. Camden, both of this county, were made one flesh.

HANNA—GAY—In Woodford county, on the 20th, Mr. John L. Hanna, of Shelby county, and Miss Bettie Gay, a young lady well known here, were united in marriage.

KING—THURMOND.—Last evening, Miss Emma L. Thurmond, the handsome daughter of Mr. J. L. Thurmond, was married to Mr. Archibald E. King, a worthy young gentleman of Trimble county.

FRYE—JONES.—At the residence of the bride's father, Col. D. S. Jones, at McKinney, on the 26th, Mr. John C. Fyre and Miss Loretta J. Jones were united in matrimony. Miss Jones is said to be as accomplished as she is handsome and attractive, and Mr. Fyre is to be congratulated for having won such a prize.

LAND, STOCK AND CROP ITEMS.

A TEXAS cattle king presented his daughter on her wedding day with 80,000 head of cattle.

J. D. Swope returned from Alabama, Wednesday. He disposed of his mules at remunerative prices.

J. M. Maxwell, of Tennessee, sold to Best & Lawson, of Garrard, 46 head 3 and 4-year-old scrub cattle, at $20 per head.

A Fayette county man says he has made more in the last two years on 6000 invested in sheep, than on $5,000 invested in cattle.

A gang of men in Morrison & Co.'s packing-house, Cincinnati, killed and cut up one day last week, 3,544 hogs, averaging 250 pounds weight.

H. T. Bush, auctioneer, sold for Peter T. Phelps, in Madison county, on Tuesday last, 50 cattle, weighing from 600 to 1,000 pounds, at 2 1/2 to 3 cts.

J. E. Farris has recently purchased of W. Shelby Wilson, of Shelbyville, Ky., a finely pedigreed Berkshire boar. This is a fine chance for persons to improve their stock of hogs.

W. D. Sutherland weighed Saturday to Offutt & Brown, 30 cattle, averaging 1,740 pounds, at $4.87 per cent. This is the cheapest lot graded in the county this season for weight and quality. (Winchester Democrat.)

Dr. Jennings Price, Master Commissioner of Garrard Common Pleas Court, sold last Monday, a tract of 80 acres 15 poles to H. T. Noel and Judge Wm. McKee Duncan, at $23.70 per acre, and another tract for $10 per acre.

At a sale in Jessamine last week, dry cows sold for $46 per head; two-year-old steers, $22.50; 2-year-old heifers, $36.25; 3-year-old mules, $11.50; 2-year-old mules, $57.50; yearling do, $23.50; and corn $1.76 per bush, in the crib.

The following prices were obtained at a sale in Montgomery county: Two-year-old mules, $65.25; mule cows, $27; long yearling cattle, $25.68; saddle horse, $135; other horses very high; suckling calves, $19.80; six-sticks hay, $11.10 per stack.

LOUISVILLE.—Good cattle are in demand, but poor grades go off slowly. Good to extra shippers, $3 to 4; best butchers, 3 to 3 1/2; thin and rough, to medium, 1 to 2. The hog market is weak, with sales of tops at $2.80; fair to good, $2.50 to $2.60; common to good light, $2 to $2.40; Extra-ships, $3 to 4; common to medium 1 1/2 to 2 cents.

The Tusculum (Ala.) Times heard a farmer the other day counting up the profit in a bale of cotton he had just sold. He sold at 64 cents, and received $32.50 for the bale. He deducted $8 for picking, $4.50 for ginning and packing, $1 for handling and 6 cents per pound for cultivation, making $30, and found that the single bale had brought him just $10 in debt.

LINCOLN COUNTY NEWS.

Hudsonville.

CONWAY.—Is now fully open and proposes to compete with any, as to quality of stock, or liberality in prices.

THE SATURDAY JUBILEE.—Last night, was expressive of a bright conception of the "propriety" in commemoration of the "day we celebrate."

ALL HAPPY.—In the unprecedented throng at W. H. Smith & Co.'s on Tuesday, no one was injured. All went away smiling, bearing their purchases with them.

THE PLACE.—Candidates for matrimony are directed to Pat Conway's—gentlemen, for suits warranted to kill—ladies, for an outfit that would render Angels more angelic.

A HAPPY THOUGHT.—The ice-gatherers are warning this morning upon the crystal covering of the classic Hanging Rock. By the way, this stream must have won its cognomen before our juries learned to hang.

ACCIDENT INSURANCE BUREAU.—A Yankee speculator noticing the constant pressure of people at W. H. Smith & Co.'s, proposed to utilize the thing by organizing an "Accident Insurance Bureau." But it wouldn't take. The people knew they were safe and kindly cared for there.

HUSTONVILLE MERCHANTS.—In the absence of news, and as it is a season for the expression of good will, and as we feel a little vain of our citizens, you will tolerate a dish of our mercantile lore: it is morning. First then, we have addressed itself to the crying needs of the inner man, a restaurant inaugurated by Messrs. Dye & Horn, and to be conducted—merrily—standing the ominous juxtaposition of names—on strictly temperance principles.

As a compensatory arrangement we have two drug stores, in one of which Dr. W. S. Dye & Son, aided at present by S. G. Dye, prepare and distribute the weapons sufficient to contend against nearly all "the ill that flesh is heir to." The other is conducted by G. F. Peacock, surrounded by a brilliant staff, consisting of J. M. Cooper, G. B. Cooper and Will Hocker—with "Boss" Alex, as roundabout. In dry goods, "Catt & Rose, aided by "Thompson" Cooper; Pat Conway, backed by J. M. Cook and R. W. Bradley; Soc Owens, who is alone at present, and W. H. S. & Co., under charge of J. B. Green, who is seconded by Will Sandifer, Billy Williams, J. P. Goode and Robt. Green, with Tom Kitchen Peyton, (envoy extraordinary for the colored persuasion,) all wide awake, all attentive to business—dispense their wares in a style worthy of all commendation. The Hustonville branch of W. H. S. & Co. has recently been put in the charge of the accomplished salesman, J. B. Green, in whose hands we predict for a continuance of its popularity. Now, Mr. Editor, we contend that this is an exceedingly respectable exhibit for a small town without a tunnel. The amount of business done by the houses named, is simply astonishing. The writer has known the place for more than 30 years, and at no time within that period has there been as large a supply of goods, or as lively a run of custom as at present. I am satisfied that our increased trade is in a great measure due to the wise policy of our merchants in telling the people through the columns of the Danville Advocate and INTERIOR JOURNAL what they have, and why they have it.

Tunnel City.

AUCTION SALES.—Of clothing, dry goods and notions, here Friday and Saturday, the 27th and 28th inst.; S. F. Reynolds, Auctioneer.

MUNICIPAL.—Sam Cary having resigned his position as trustee, the Board, at its last meeting appointed W. T. Court to fill the vacancy, and also elected him to the position of Chairman of the Board.

A LIVELY POLICE COURT.—Next Saturday promises to be a lively day in the Police Court, there being some dozen or more warrants returned for trial on that day, all civil cases. A general settling up of the old year's account.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Abel Dillon and lady are spending Christmas week with friends at Crab Orchard. Mr. A. S. Buchanan, Civil Engineer on the C. & S. R. R. located at Georgetown, was the guest of Maj. Comer, last week. Mr. Robert Frith will spend the Christmas with us, while Jerry will float in the atmosphere of Brodhead. J. D. Bell is on a business trip to Lebanon.

RUNNING OFF FROM HIS DEBTS.—Thos. King, aged about 40 years, with family, left us suddenly last week; between us, to the grief of all our merchants and many others with whom he had small accounts, taking this unwise plan to pay about $75 or $80 of debts. He went towards Nashville, Tenn. We hope this little act of his here may come to his notice in print, and cause him to return and make amends.

SANTA CLAUS.—The mirthful shouts of the little boys, mingled with the popping of fire crackers and other pyrotechnics, the sticky hands and sweet lips of the little girls, all give evidence that, notwithstanding the extreme cold night, Old Santa Claus did not forget them, but through frost and snow, over hill and dale, through wood and dell, plodded on, on his mission of love, till every good little girl and boy had received something to make them happy, from his exhaustless store.

TEMPERANCE.—The cold stormy weather, or something else, caused Mr. Denmore to fail to come to time with his appointment here last Monday night. But fortunately for those who were anxious to hear something said on the temperance question, Revs. W. M. Reed and C. J. McKinney, very opportunely appeared upon the stage and both made appropriate remarks upon the subject, which we trust may be "bread cast upon the water." Brother Reid's recitation of the death-bed scene of the drunkard in the last agonies of that terrible state, dolorum tormens, was truly affecting in the extreme, and was enough to cause all who witnessed it, to resolve to do all in their power to save their fellow-beings from such blood-curdling horrors. The thanks of the audience were tendered those brethren for the efficient and interesting manner with which they filled the place of Mr. Denmore. Mr. Denmore, however, must not consider himself released from fulfilling his appointment here at some future time.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.—Mr. J. H. Stafford, agent for Oxley & Co., Cincinnati, was in our town last week, on the lookout for more stores. We would be glad to see all of our farmers availing themselves of this opportunity to get a good price for their surplus timber, of which there is vast quantities that could be spared to a two-fold advantage; that of supplying immediate wants, and clearing the land for future cultivation, the latter advantage would prove to be worth much more to them than any possible advance in the price of timber for the next fifty years to come. So, cut down your timber; sell all you can; burn the rest, and cultivate your land, and by manuring liberally; planting at the right season, and cultivating thoroughly, we will guarantee that in a few years, instead of having every thing to buy as you now do, you can have most every thing to sell. Will we do it? It will only require energy and industry, directed by good judgment, in a few years to change this comparatively unbroken wilderness, to rich fields of waving grain.

And beautiful hills of pastures green.

BOYLE COUNTY NEWS.

Danville.

CHRISTMAS DAY.—Was unusually quiet here.

ALAS.—The hilarious voice of the College boy is missed from the streets during the holidays.

DEATH.—Mr. J. P. Fisher, an old and valued citizen of the town, died on Saturday, 21st, and was buried Monday.

GONE UP.—Last Friday, a negro child about seven years of age, was frightfully burned, and died in a few hours. She attempted to do what her mother had frequently done in her presence—kindle a fire with the aid of kerosene.

FROZEN TO DEATH.—The body of a negro man named William Mosely, was found Monday, on the farm of Ben Spears, an inquest was held and the facts elicited show that when last seen, at 11 o'clock, Saturday night, he was drunk, and it is supposed, in his course home he fell and was frozen to death.

COMMONS PLEAS COURT.—Met on the 17th Judge Breckinridge on the Bench. The only case of general interest, the suit of Mary Lincoln, by &c., vs. H. E. Samuels and wife, for $25,000 damages, was continued until the next term of the Court. The jury was discharged Friday, and a few Equity cases remaining undisposed of, the Court was adjourned from Saturday till the 27th.

LECTURES.—The first of a series of free lectures under the auspices of the "Society of Religious Inquiry" in connection with the Theological Seminary, was delivered in the Second Presbyterian Church, Thursday evening, by Rev. J. W. Bailey, D. D., of Sparta, Ills. The lecturer entertained his audience with a pleasing talk on the Book of Revelation, to which he had given many years of special study, and the lecture was marked throughout by ability and ingenious thought.

RELIGIOUS.—Rev. Mr. Chichester, of Columbia, S. C., delivered an interesting sermon from the pulpit of the First Presbyterian church, Sunday night. The announcement has been made that Rev. Wm. R. Henderson had accepted a call to a Church at Hopkinsville. It is understood that the Session of the Second Presbyterian Church declined to accept his resignation. In accordance with a beautiful custom of the Episcopal Church, the Chapel of Trinity Church has been decorated with evergreen and bannery, commemorating the glad tidings of the nativity of Christ.

PERSONAL.—Ex-Congressman John D. White, from the Ninth District, has been spending a few days in town, the guest of Prof. and Mrs. R. S. Hitchcock. Colonel Clifton Rhodes slipped and fell upon the pavement last Saturday, receiving sufficient injury to confine him to his bed. Mr. Walker Fry, manager of the car department of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas R. R. at Sedalia, Mo., is on a visit to his father, Gen. S. S. Fry. He is accompanied by his lovely bride, Miss Polk Phillips, of Austin, Texas, to whom he was married on the 17th inst. His estimable wife has bestowed her hand upon a courteous gentleman, and a successful business man. Judge F. T. Fox, Jr., of Louisville, is in town. Mr. Q. D. Vaughan and wife, see Ira Ayres, of Louisville, will spend the week in Danville.

WAYNE COUNTY NEWS.

Monticello.

DEATH.—Wm. Russell, aged 60, died of inflammation of the stomach, Tuesday.

BORN, on the 22d inst., to the wife of James Duncan, a boy—James Fribbie.....

BORN, on 10th inst., to the wife of John F. West, a boy—Willie.

LES BROKE.—Master John Jones, son of William Jones, of this vicinity, had one bone of his leg broken by his horse slipping on ice and falling on him.

ORANGE BIDS.—Married, on the 18th inst., at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Alex Daugherty, Mr. Andrew Bell to Miss Jennie Sheppard. License here has been issued for marriage on the 26th inst., by Mr. W. A. C. Burnett to Miss Mary J. Shearer, daughter of A. N. Shearer, Esq.

CHARIVARI.—Thomas J. Lee and Miss Isadora Reed, were married by his Honor, Judge Haynes, at the residence of Mr. Thomas Hatcher, last Friday evening. This occasion called forth quite a number of cow bells, tin pans and other harsh toned instruments, creating much merriment for the boys, and discomfiture to the happy couple.

A CANDIDATE FOR THE PENITENTIARY, named Matthews, living in Tennessee, came to our County Judge a few days ago, and represented that a man in indigent circumstances had just died at Mr. Andrew Young's, and that he was sent by Mr. Young to get a suit of clothes for him. The Judge gave an order to Messrs. Ramsey & Buck, who furnished the suit. It has since transpired that the dead pauper was a myth, and that the goods were appropriated by Matthews for his own use.

AFTER THE MOONSHINERS.—A Marshal's posse of fourteen men under command of Deputy Richard Burnside, are operating on the outskirts of this county and adjoining county in Tennessee. We learn that several illicit stills have been captured, and that the establishments of Amp Blevins, George Bell and Ed Dolan, have been destroyed. This is the first successful raid that has been made against Blevins, notwithstanding he has been engaged in the moonshine business ever since the war.

NEW BUILDINGS IN PROSPECT.—Dr. H. A. Phillips, and Phillips & Oatts have bought the lot on which the Popplewell Hotel was burned, of Dr. A. S. Cook, for $450. The proposed erecting a business house as soon as Spring opens. We learn also that Messrs. George W. Ingram and H. H. Gibson will tear away the dilapidated building on the South-west side of Public
